Wetaskiwin Honored By Official Visit of Lord and Lady Willingdon

Distinguished Visitors Welcomed by Large Crowd of Loyal Citizens and Presented With Illuminated Address—Medals Presented—Veterans, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides Inspected—Indians Met at Cairn—Citizens Introduced in Reception Room of Hotel

Tuesday, April 28th, will go down in the history of Wetaskiwin as a red letter day, it being the occasion when the City tendered a civic reception to His Excellency Lord Willingdon, governor-general of Canada, and Lady Willingdon. Not only was this a Wetaskiwin reception, but it was a provincial reception to their Excellencies as well, and among the distinguished guests here for the occasion were His Honor Lieut. Governor Egbert, Premier Brownlee and Mrs. Brownlee, Lord and Lady Rodney, His Excellencies reached Wetaskiwin promptly at 10 o'clock, and it is estimated that fully five thousand citizens turned out to do them honor. The City was beautifully and artistically decorated with evergreens, bunting and flags, and the affair was an unqualified success, as every detail had been arranged and nothing whatever occurred to interfere with the successfully carrying out of the program which had been arranged.

Promptly after the arrival of the train, Their Excellencies were welcomed to Wetaskiwin and the province by Lieut. Governor Egbert, Premier Brownlee and Mrs. Brownlee, Lord and Lady Rodney, Mayor Howatt, and Mrs. Howatt, Ald. A. H. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis, Ald. H. R. French and Mrs. French, Ald. W. A. MacAllister and Mrs. MacAllister, Ald. Jas. Scott and Mrs. Scott, Ald. H. Brown and Mrs. Brown, Ald. T. Torson and Mrs. Torson, and Mr. E. Fraser secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Fraser and C. H. Russell, City Solicitor. After the formal welcome, the Wetaskiwin band, under the leadership of Father Wehravens, played "God Save the King" and the guard of honor under Major Butts was inspected. The distinguished party was then driven to the Court House, going via the United Church, Dr. McColligan's corner, and thence along Pearce street, where the following illuminated address of welcome was read by Mayor Howatt.

City of Wetaskiwin
To His Excellency,
The Right Honorable the Viscount Willingdon, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

May it please Your Excellency,
On behalf of our fellow citizens, we, the Mayor and Councillors of the City of Wetaskiwin, respectfully offer to you and to the Gracious Lady Her Excellency the Viscountess Willingdon, Lady of the Imperial Order of the Crown of India, Dame Grand Cross of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, who accompanies you, our loyal and affectionate greetings. We extend to you on this your first visit to our City a most sincere and cordial welcome.

We humbly offer to Your Excellency the sincere assurance of our unwavering loyalty and devotion to the Person and Throne of His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth and the members of the Royal Family.

In the exalted offices of State which you held while in India we recall with pride and gratitude Your Excellency's distinguished services to the Empire. Of the devoted interest which Her Excellency Lady Willingdon has taken in the activities of this great Dominion, and of her untiring zeal in promoting our welfare we would respectfully express our heartfelt appreciation.

We crave Your Excellency's indulgence to state that our City is on the great highway now known as the "Sunshine Trail" which extends from Montana to Edmonton and continues through the Peace River District to Jasper Park.

The name, Wetaskiwin, is of Indian origin and denotes the Hills of Peace in our vicinity. Thirty-nine years ago the pioneers founded this City of peace and goodwill which is now the centre of one of the finest wheat-growing, dairying, and mixed farming districts of the Province of Alberta. Seed grain grown in this district is in great demand, and has gained distinction in competitions open to the whole American Continent. At the World's Fair in Chicago our farmers have on several occasions been awarded first prizes for wheat and oats.

It would have been a pleasure and privilege had you been able to extend your visit to us to show you these prize-winning farms, so that you might be able to make personal observation of the intensive scientific and practical study which is now being given here to prize seed grain and cattle and to dairy produce.

Again assuring Your Excellencies of our profound sense of gratitude for the great honor which you have conferred on us by this official visit to the City of Wetaskiwin, we would respectfully remain, Your Excellency's most obedient servants.

(Signed) Mayor and Aldermen.

His Excellency made a very fitting reply in which he thanked the citizens for the hearty reception and referred to the beautiful location and appearance of the city and community. He regretted that time did not permit him to visit the famous farms of this neighborhood, which have brought so much credit to Canada, but he hoped that during the brief time at his disposal, he would have the opportunity of meeting some of the gentlemen who have brought such distinction to this community by their successful and intensive study of scientific raising of prize seed grain, as well as the best cattle and dairy products.

Immediately following the address, Ruth, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Chalmers, presented Her Excellency with a beautiful bouquet of roses and was rewarded by receiving an affectionate kiss and was escorted to the platform, where His Excellency also greeted her. The bouquet was presented on behalf of Peace Hill Chapter I.O.O.F., which was officially represented at the reception by the Regent, W. J. S. Orr, Marjorie Montgomery, winner of the Governor-General's medal given to the student making the highest mark in the Grade Eight exams in the Wetaskiwin Inspectorate, was then formally presented with the medal by His Excellency, after which Richard Hawkins, who introduced to Lord Willingdon, was presented to him with a Fenian Raid medal.

Following the presentations, a large number of veterans under command of Sgt. E. T. Williamson, the Girl Guides under command of Capt. Eva Walker, the Brownies in charge of Mrs. Kingzett, and the Boy Scouts and Cubs under command of Scoutmaster Wade, were inspected.

The next item on the program was a drive into the country, when Lord and Lady Willingdon and distinguished guests were driven to the corner of Richard Ballhorn's farm, then to the Cairn, where Lord and Lady Willingdon shook hands and conversed with Chief Brimbleton, Chief Samson, Sam and David Mide, Michael Buffalo, Johnny Louis and other pioneer Indians of the Hobbema reservation. Their Excellencies were greatly impressed with the Cairn and the Indians, and photos of this event were taken, which will be forwarded to them as souvenirs of their visit here.

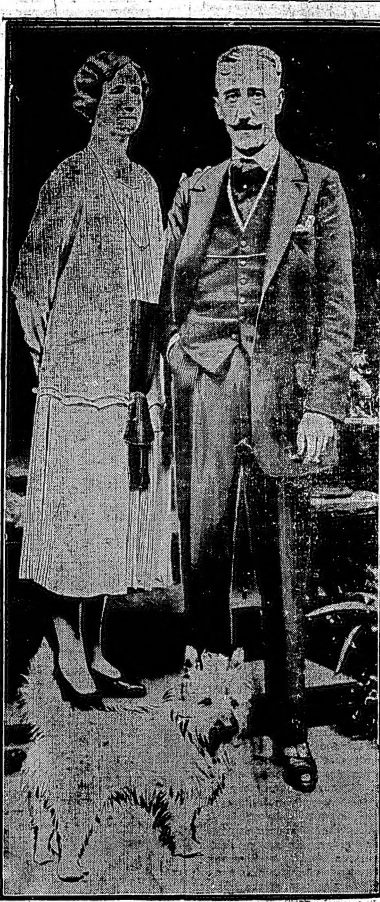

Upon their return to the City, a civic reception was held in the banquet room of the Driad Hotel, when many citizens had the pleasure of shaking hands with Lord and Lady Willingdon, the introductions being made by Ald. Ellis. Promptly at 12 noon the distinguished party departed for Yorkton, and were given a hearty send-off by the hundreds of citizens who assembled at the depot to bid them farewell and Godspeed.

Following the farewells, the Mayor and Councillors of the City of Wetaskiwin, respectively offer to you and to the Gracious Lady Her Excellency the Viscountess Willingdon, Lady of the Imperial Order of the Crown of India, Dame Grand Cross of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, who accompanies you, our loyal and affectionate greetings.

We extend to you on this your first visit to our City a most sincere and cordial welcome.

We humbly offer to Your Excellency the sincere assurance of our unwavering loyalty and devotion to the Person and Throne of His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth and the members of the Royal Family.

In the exalted offices of State which you held while in India we recall with pride and gratitude Your Excellency's distinguished services to the Empire. Of the devoted interest which Her Excellency Lady Willingdon has taken in the activities of this great Dominion, and of her untiring zeal in promoting our welfare we would respectfully express our heartfelt appreciation.

THEIR EXCELLENCIES LORD AND LADY WILLINGDON
Who were tendered a civic reception at Wetaskiwin Tuesday, and who expressed themselves as being delighted with the treatment provided and with the loyalty shown by the citizens.

BEER PARLORS MAY BE CLOSED CERTAIN HOURS

Medicine Hat, Alta., April 25.—R. J. Dinning, Alberta Liquor Control Commissioner, Thursday stated that his department has under advisement a policy whereby the open hours of beer parlors would be curtailed each day. Similar curtailments in the rural areas would be made to suit the circumstances.

It will have to be passed on by the Board of Utilities Commissioners and if found favorable, the company will proceed with the construction of the line, which is estimated to cost $150,000.

The power line will be constructed from Camrose via Dismal, Round Hill to Ryley. From Ryley the line will go west to Toleda, and east as far as Viking, and eventually may be extended to connect up with the company's line at Irma.

ONTARIO FARMERS HARD HIT BY FROST

Toronto, April 25.—Ontario farmers were given promise of some relief from their anxiety over fall crops today when the weather man predicted milder weather. The sharp frost of the last four nights dealt agriculturalists, particularly in Western Ontario, a severe blow.

Summarizing the situation, J. A. Carroll, director of markets and co-operation branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, said fall wheat and winter crops this year have suffered to a greater degree than in past years.

It is too early to estimate the damage, he said, but there is no doubt farmers in Western Ontario have been heavy losers as a result of the brand of weather recently.

BRITAIN TO CANADA TWO-DAY ROUTE SEEN

Ottawa, April 26.—Possibilities of a two-day air route between Great Britain and Central Canada are being canvassed by a group of men interested in aviation and in Empire transportation. Col. J. L. In order to ascertain if such a route is feasible, one of their number is this year proceeding to spend 12 months in that northern region, surveying the ice-cap for landing fields and studying meteorological conditions.

The route would be via Scotland, the Faroe Islands, Iceland, Greenland and Hudson Bay to Winnipeg.

Immediately following the departure of the Vice-Regal train, at noon on Tuesday, a civic luncheon took place at the Driad Hotel, banquet room, with His Honor Lieut. Governor Egbert, Premier J. E. Brownlee and Mrs. Brownlee, Lord Rodney and Lady Rodney, Provincial Commissioner of the Girl Guides, Mrs. Ellis, Provincial secretary of the Girl Guides, Capt. Gillespie, secretary to the Lieut. Governor, A. Halkett, General Supt. of the C.P.R., and several others as distinguished guests.

In his address of welcome, Mayor Howatt referred to Wetaskiwin as being located on the hills of peace, and he hoped that peace, good will and charity would ever prevail throughout the community, especially charity, which had the widest tolerance for the rights and opinions of others.

In introducing His Honor, the Lieut. Governor, Mayor Howatt referred to the distinct honor conferred upon Wetaskiwin in having the representative of His Majesty the King in this province, as our guest on this occasion. He had spent many years in Alberta, as a public benefactor, and he hoped he would continue in office for many years to come.

His Honor, the Lieut. Governor, in his brief address, referred to the delightful two days he spent with Their Excellencies in this province, and coming to Wetaskiwin was a fitting and pleasing climax to their visit to Alberta. Those who have had the pleasure of meeting Their Excellencies have formed a slight idea as to what they are. Mayor Howatt and the citizens of Canada, as Lord and Lady Willingdon command the respect of everyone with whom they come in contact, and he was pleased to see the people of Wetaskiwin taking such a hearty interest in the reception, which he said could hardly be equalled in any other part of the Empire. The citizens of the future, where citizens took such a keen interest in the public men as was shown in Wetaskiwin on this occasion, and on behalf of His Excellency he thanked the citizens of this community for the loyalty shown on this occasion. He also heartily congratulated Mayor Howatt and the Aldermen and all others having charge of the reception arrangements for the very complete and successful manner in which the affair was conducted. He was greatly impressed with the beautiful and prosperous country surrounding Wetaskiwin, and he also noted with pleasure that the citizens are taking a great interest in the beautification of their surroundings. The people of this province know very little of the extreme poverty experienced in other countries and he was glad to reside in this province, with its unlimited resources and unbounded opportunities, when properly developed will result in Alberta being one of the most attractive and prosperous provinces in the Dominion of Canada.

Chairman Mayor Howatt then introduced Premier Brownlee, and referred to his popularity and success as the leader of the Alberta government during the past several years. The Premier, after expressing the appreciation of Mrs. Brownlee and himself for the invitation to participate in the welcome extended to Lord and Lady Willingdon, referred to the extreme pleasure it gave him to welcome Their Excellencies to Wetaskiwin, and the Province, on this occasion. He welcomed Lord Willingdon, not only as the King's representative in Canada, but as an outstanding man among men, and believed that upon his return to England after his tenure of office, he would make stronger the pillars of the Empire and would be a good ambassador of Canada. He was also proud of Alberta and particularly of the citizens of Wetaskiwin, for what they had done in making the visit of Their Excellencies a memorable one in this province, and he heartily thanked them for the welcome and the attention for the most successful and admirable way in which the reception had been planned and carried out. He said he was struck with a remark in the address presented to His Excellency, which referred to Wetaskiwin being located near the hills of peace, and he hoped the people of this community would ever hold up the ideals of peace and good will. We are not a homogeneous people, but our residents have come here from many countries where many kinds of flags were worshipped. We speak about the same Mother of national life, but we have no great problem before us than cementing

UNEMPLOYMENT IS BIG PROBLEM

Experts have estimated that there are at the present time something like 30,000,000 unemployed persons in the world. The largest contributors to this huge total are the United States, with approximately 4,000,000; Germany, with more than 3,000,000; Great Britain, with about 1,400,000; Italy, with a little more than 1,000,000; Austria, with 500,000. But there is one notable exception. To the number of idle people France makes no contribution at all. She has no unemployment problem.

The fortunate position of France is significant and points a moral which should not be overlooked by other countries in regard to distribution of people. It is noteworthy that out of 40,000,000 population nearly 21,000,000 reside in rural communities, the city total being 19,984,766. This balance between rural and urban populations thus favoring industrial development, is responsible for the sound economic condition of France, which not only has been able to find sufficient work for her own people since the war, but she has imported many thousands of workers from other European countries. The number of foreigners in the republic in 1926 was over a million more than in 1921.

With the exception of Paris, Marseilles, Lyons, Bordeaux and Lille, France had no cities in 1926 of more than 200,000 population, indicating clearly that she has not developed her urban area at the expense of the highly productive countryside. A striking contrast is provided by her near neighbor, Germany, with a population of approximately 64,000,000, or 24,000,000 more, where the number of cities exceeding a population of 200,000 at the last census in 1924 was 25, with 22 of more than 100,000 and 30 with more than 70,000. Here is the evidence of a highly industrialized country, urban population overbalancing the rural population, with the result that the nation is faced with the problem of an unemployment army of more than 3,000,000.

Great Britain furnishes a still more striking example of an uneven distribution of population. As far back as 1901 the urban areas accounted for 77 per cent and the rural districts for 23 per cent. In 1921, the date of the last census, this condition had grown steadily worse, in spite of the fact that during the war years the benefits of a more intense development of the land was apparent, the percentages at 79.3 for the urban areas and 20.7 for the rural areas. Britain, of course, for many years before the war—particularly the decade immediately following the conflict in South Africa—had a serious unemployment problem; but such statistics as are now available were not kept then, and the full force of the condition was not impressed upon the public mind as it is now.

A quarter of a century ago the rural population of the United States was considerably greater than the urban population; but the turn of the tide came more than ten years ago, and the census of 1920, for instance, showing the division as follows: Urban, 51.4 per cent, and rural, 48.6. It is fully expected, moreover, that the census now being taken in the neighboring republic will reveal an urban population of at least 60 per cent, and possibly more. Here is a part of the explanation why the United States, with a population estimated at 130,000,000, is faced with a problem of at least 4,000,000 unemployed, a condition proportionately the same as obtaining in Great Britain. There is the difference, however, that the United States has more resources with which to deal with its idle population than the European countries. The Washington government is none the less exercised over the present state of affairs. Italy, of course, is in a relative position as Germany, both countries being much worse off in this regard than Great Britain.

Canada's distribution of population now is very much like that of France and like that of the United States 30 years ago. We should endeavor to maintain that condition, to see that our urban development shall not impair our rural progress. Otherwise, we, too, will find ourselves in a very serious economic condition. Unemployment in varying scale always will be found in urban communities because of the difficulty of diverting unskilled labor, which is the first to be dispensed with when the law of supply and demand becomes unstable.

The idle city dweller naturally is not so fortunately situated in times of stress as the farmer. The rural worker, however, he daily moderately industrious, always is able to supply himself and his family with food, and sell enough of his wares to provide that which he is not able to grow. Not only that, if an even balance be kept between rural and urban populations, social discontent in its more or less violent form becomes most remote.—Nelson News.

THE GIANT AND THE DWARF

Overshadowed by the tone of steel making up the monster that has succeeded it, "Curly" as the engine is still affectionately known among veteran railwaymen, stands alongside a modern Canadian Pacific locomotive and measures only as long as the latter's cab and tender. Nevertheless, "Curly", tiny, lofty-funnelled wood-burner of pioneer days, can claim a record seldom approached anywhere in the world for long life, usefulness and endurance. "Curly" was brought to British Columbia in 1871 and W. H. (Bill) Evans (inset), engineer of the first Canadian Pacific passenger train to reach Port Moody in 1885, says it was built in a San Francisco machine shop and later aided Count de Lesseps in the Panama Canal region, not to mention construction work in Peru. Sixty years of arduous work left their mark on "Curly", but now the engine after a thorough refitting at the Canadian Pacific Vancouver shops, is to be exhibited at the Vancouver Exhibition in August, as a museum piece of the early days. Bill Evans was called out of retirement for purposes of this picture and gladly donned the old overalls again to show himself once more in harness alongside "Curly".

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST
28 LBS. OF FAT

This headline is exactly true and means just what it says. Read her own letter: I take a daily dose of Kruschen and I have lost two inches round the waist and hips and 28 lbs. since last summer. I feel very well on it, and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5 ft. 4 ins. in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family.

Miss E. L. If you are fat, first remove the cause. When your liver, kidneys and bowels can't throw off that poisonous waste material which is always accumulating in your body—before you realize it you are growing hideously fat. Take Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning. In three weeks time, get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also how you have gained in energy and health. Your skin is clearer, your eyes sparkle with glorious health. You feel younger in body keener in mind. Kruschen will give many fat people a joyous surprise.

AUSTRALIA SPRINGS
SURPRISE ON U.S.

Australia has handed the tariff conferees a jolt that may make them sit up and take notice—also a great many other statesmen in both houses who have thought they were serving their own interests best by killing off the foreign trade of the United States. The new Australian restrictions are drastic to the point of exclusion, in many cases, and in imposing them the Australian government has exhibited such a free hand as to make itself the wonder of the tariff world. And, as if the restrictions against our trade with Australia, amounting to some $150,000,000 a year, were not enough of themselves to give thoughtful American legislators any worry, it is intimated that other nations, notably France, Germany and England, may find in them a model which they will follow to demonstrate to America that the game of commercial exclusion is one that can be played in other parts of the world.

Briefly, the new Australian plan embodies three outstanding features. First, certain commodities may not be imported into that country except with the written consent of the Minister of Foreign Trade and Customs—a delegation of power which perhaps has no parallel in modern commercial history. Every item in this category, from foodstuffs to agricultural machinery, radio goods and many items of builders' hardware. Another group, including tobacco manufactures and locomotives may not be imported except upon a quota basis of 50 per cent of the imports of the year ending March 31, 1930. Still another group including boots and shoes, sporting goods, motor cycles, auto radios and parts, pianos, and many of the articles, may enter Australia hereafter only at an increase of 50 per cent over the present duties. Every item on the entire list—and we have only touched the high spots—is manufactured in the United States, and many of them are American specialties. It is stated officially that this is not a retaliatory move against the proposed United States tariff, that the restrictions apply equally against the products of all countries; nevertheless the American Trade Commissioner at Sydney thought enough of them to wireless the whole list of commodities affected to his superiors, and Secretary of Commerce Lamont was so impressed with the exhibition that he directed that the list be made public immediately.

This, then, is one of the answers to the work of the insurgents, the Coalition and the American Congress generally in localizing a great economic problem and playing cheap politics with it—like the needless and offensive increase in the rate on wool from 31 to 34 cents a pound. It has always been said that the United States owed it to itself and its own people to revise its tariff schedules in its own way, but hitherto this normal freedom has been compelled to take into account that foreign countries might really mean business when they intimated that our tariff system is unfair. Our government is very quick to protest any menacing or exclusive action on the part of a foreign government, as with the French a year or two ago, but it has paid no attention whatever to the representations of foreign governments over the extravagances of our own tariff-making. If the Australian system is put into effect, as it appears that it will be, and the action of the Australian government emboldens other foreign authorities to like reprisals, possibly our complacent Congress, with its obsession of trying to put the mild-mannered but clear-thinking Hoover administration in a hole, may soon find itself making explanations to the American people.—Boston Transcript.

Concrete paving means better roads because of the safe even tractive surface it assures.

It means better budgets because it does not cost upkeep. It ends strain, needless tire wear and excessive gas consumption. It means better motoring.

Wise motorists pick the concrete roads. Tourists choose routes that feature them. Commercial vehicle operators appreciate their safety and economy.

Concrete roads promote prosperity and save the taxpayer's money. Advocate them... and wider highways... at every opportunity.

THE SHORT YEARS

To the boy of ten waiting for Christmas to return the year seems a century.

He looks back to his last birthday as an old man looks back to his youth.

The few weeks that compose the last term of school seem each a month long.

To the child, time is without limit. Always he is looking forward to some event that will be different from the daily humdrum of his life.

And always he wears of waiting. At twenty one's time begins to strike a little faster pace. The years ends are not quite so far apart.

At forty a month slips by as a week did once.

What happened six months ago might have been yesterday. Dates that are neglected on the theory that they do not need to be done right away are soon at hand, before one is ready to undertake them.

And so the years shorten as life goes on, until at fifty you will be astonished to find that Easter is at hand almost as soon as New Year's day has gone.

Most people accomplish their most important work in these short years because time seemed so abundant in the longer years that little more than a quarter of it was used effectively.

Old age is on the horizon like a cloud. Death is just behind it.

There is still much to do, and too often the vitality and power to do it have been used up in youth or in middle age.

If the young man listen to those who have gone before them they would so spend time when it seems unlimited that these short years could also be "merry ones."

The Creator has been really generous with time.

There is enough of it for the thinking people to build for the future.

But time cannot be halted or called back to use over again.—Ex.

"One day when I had three boils on my legs, and my face badly broken out in pimples, a friend recommended Burdock Blood Bitters. I got a bottle and in a very short time everything was cleared away, and I felt better as good as I ever did."

Five Minutes to Spare

"Yes, I have had many exciting experiences and narrow escapes during my adventurous life," said Big Jim. "But of all my experiences there is one that I think was the worst predicament I was ever in."

"In the fall of nineteen-nine my partner, Long Tom, and I were in the Coast Range mountains of California, working a fairly promising gold mine with a rather primitive outfit. We did have a hoisting rig with a windlass, the barrel of which was made from the trunk of a tree and had a wooden handle at one end, and it served our purpose very well. Just in front of the windlass and over the mouth of the shaft we put up a standard for a sheave, which was rigged several feet higher than the windlass so that one of us could do the hoisting and dumping while the other worked below. We used an old water bucket to haul the ore up. Besides those things we had only a few common tools, and we lived in a small log cabin. We had not struck ore of much value in the first seventy-five feet, but every time we fired a round of shots we expected to discover a vein that would make us rich."

"The ladder running on one side of the shaft was old and rickety, for at the time we built it nails were so scarce that we had used only a few here and there for the most part, and had spliced the uprights and cross-pieces together with strips of rawhide from the trunk of a tree and had a wooden handle at one end, and it served our purpose very well. Just in front of the windlass and over the mouth of the shaft we put up a standard for a sheave, which was rigged several feet higher than the windlass so that one of us could do the hoisting and dumping while the other worked below. We used an old water bucket to haul the ore up. Besides those things we had only a few com-shaft and escaped death only by a miracle, he had broken his leg and had received some severe bruises. Although he had recovered from the accident, he had not regained the complete use of his injured leg; so we decided that he should work at the top.

"There was no loose rock to be hauled up, and so there was little for Tom to do until after I had put in the first blasts, or shots, as the miners called them, and while I was down in the mine drilling holes for the shots, Tom occupied his time over on the hillside a hundred yards from the shaft by getting out poles for a new ladder and cutting firewood. When I was ready to touch off the shots, Tom was to come and haul me up in the bucket, for I did not care to climb the rickety ladder.

"It was four o'clock in the afternoon, and I had just finished making eight drill holes in the face of the wall where I wanted to widen the bottom of the shaft. After drilling the last hole I put half a stick of dynamite into each, prepared to set them off and called to my partner to get ready to haul me up, as I was going to fire the shots.

"At my first call I received no reply. I waited a few seconds and called again, but still got no response, and Tom did not appear at the windlass above. Again and again I shouted. I began to wonder why Tom did not answer. After several minutes of waiting and shouting to attract his attention I grew impatient and reckless. At last I decided not to wait any longer. I would take the chance of climbing the ladder after I had set off the fuses.

"The fuses were so arranged in length that when I had set the last one I should have five minutes to get out of the shaft before the first charge went off. Every fuse 'took' well, and after a last glance round I jumped to the foot of the ladder.

"Then came the sudden disaster. I started hastily to climb, but I had gone up only half a dozen steps when one of the rungs gave way in my hand. So suddenly did it happen that I fell straight backward to the floor of the shaft and struck my right side heavily against the rock of the wall with a jolt that shook me up considerably and bruised my right arm and shoulder. I lay at the bottom of the shaft for an instant; then staggered to my feet, half dazed, and looking towards the shot holes. Every fuse was sputtering savagely, but, thinking I still had ample time to get out of the mine before the explosion, I decided to make another attempt to climb the ladder.

"I had mounted fifty feet and had begun to think I was going to reach the top safely, when as I stepped on a rung I heard the wood begin to crack and felt the framework starting to give away under me.

"Fortunately, after letting me down in the bucket, my partner had not wound up the rope again on the windlass. When I saw the ladder giving away I made a grab for the rope. I seized it just in the nick of time! A whole twenty-foot section of the ladder broke loose and went down with a crash. Of course what I should have done then was to slide down the rope and snuff out the fuses, but being only twenty-five feet from the top, I thought I could easily climb the remaining distance up the rope.

"I immediately began to pull myself up hand over hand, but when I had raised myself about three yards my hand slipped, and my weight was thrown on my right arm, which I had injured in my fall. Instantly an excruciating pain stabbed through the muscles of my upper arm and shoulder. My grip on the rope suddenly loosened, and I slid down three or four yards before I could stop myself. I hung there a few seconds and then tried to raise myself again. The pain in my arm caused me to slip again, and down I went another ten feet.

"The chance of climbing the rope seemed gone, and when I glanced down to the bottom of the shaft I saw that all the fuses had burned nearly to the shot holes. Right then I realized that I was in a desperate situation. I began calling again to attract my partner's attention, but still Tom did not appear. Again and again I shouted, yelling like a Comanche Indian, but to no avail.

"Once more I glanced towards those fatal fuses, which were hissing and sputtering angrily. Could I pick out all those fuses before they burned to the top? Not! There was no time for that. To slide down the rope to the bottom would be more dangerous than to stay where I was.

"Frankly I started once more to climb the rope. Although I knew I could not reach the top, I knew I could reach a little higher and a little farther away from the full force of the blast. I set my teeth and began to raise myself slowly, but I had climbed only a few feet when my injured arm began to weaken. I tried to favor it, but again that sharp pain shot through it. At that I lost my hold, and if the rope had not been wrapped partly around my left leg, I certainly should have slipped and fallen. As it was I went down five yards and stopped only when I got a good grip with my left hand. Somehow I braced my feet against the timbering of the wall, and there I clung as limp as a rag, with fear lest I should fall. As the seconds went by it seemed to me that five minutes of my allotted time must be up, and every moment I expected to be my last.

"After I had tried again to climb the rope, but I soon found it was useless to try, for every time I threw much weight on my right arm, a searing stab of pain would go through it and my shoulder I could not move an inch; I had all I could do to keep from slipping down.

"For a short time I hung there motionless. Every second was going by like a flash, and my doom was drawing nearer and nearer. Down below I could hear the hissing and crackling of the fuses. The sound struck me with terror, and I began calling for my partner at the top of my voice.

"Tom! I shouted. 'O Tom! Help, help!'

"I might just as well have saved my breath, for I got no response. After I had shouted for a few seconds I stopped. Then followed a period in which time seemed to pass with appalling slowness. I felt certain that I should soon be a dead man, and as I clung to the rope, helpless and weak, I expected every second to be my last. In imagination I heard the roar of the blasts, felt the shock of the explosion and felt myself lifted violently in one vast puff of smoke, red flame and flying rock.

"Again I glanced down fearfully at the short ends of those fuses protruding from the shot holes and spitting fire and little puffs of smoke.

"Seeing that my time was almost up, I made one more effort to climb the rope. I bent all the power of my will to the struggle and tried to swing myself upward, but again that sharp pain cut through my arm and shoulder like the stab of a knife. I hung motionless and gazed up where the sheave dangled in the air. Then suddenly, as if by a miracle, I saw my partner's face looking down at me as he leaned over the shaft.

"Tom! I shouted hoarsely. 'Tom! For heaven's sake, haul me up quick!'

"All right, Jim," he answered.

"Then Tom showed his presence of mind. Instead of hoisting me up on the windlass he took hold of the blade of a knife flash in the air and cut through the rope close to the barrel of the windlass.

"Hold on, Jim," he shouted.

"Then with the end of the rope in both hands he drew it over his right shoulder and started on the run down the slope from the mine. I was never hauled up a mine shaft so quickly in my life, but at the time I thought I had never moved so slowly. The sheave fairly hummed as the rope was drawn forward;

"As a political creed communism is practically discredited in China to-day," said Colonel G. W. Birks, in charge of Y. M. C. Colonel Birks thought that China would shortly split into independent parts, North and South China.

Seeding has become general in some Saskatchewan points and in many farming centres of Alberta, and is expected to be general shortly if favorable weather conditions continue, according to reports coming in to the Winnipeg offices of the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Seventy head of finest thoroughbred stock arrived at Saint John recently to go forward by Canadian Pacific Railway to the Prince of Wales ranch at High River, Alberta. It is the first shipment of the kind to the ranch in the past four years. The majority are pedigree shorthorn cattle.

Dr. Norwood is chairman of the delegation of British headmasters here on a tour of inspection of ten Canadian universities. He arrived at Saint John recently aboard S.S. Duchess of Bedford.

nevertheless, during every foot of that fifty-foot ascent I expected to be rattled by the flying rocks from the blast. I was afraid that my hold would give way, afraid that my partner would not stop when I came up to the sheave, afraid that I should be jerked from my hold and fall back to meet the full force of the explosion.

"In a second or two I reached the top. For an instant I felt myself hanging motionless over the mouth of the shaft below the sheave; then I reached up and managed to grab hold of the cross pole of the standard with both hands, swung over to solid ground at the edge of the shaft and roll away.

"I was not one foot from the shaft when, bang! the first charge went off, followed immediately by the explosion of the other shots. I quickly rolled frantically away from the shaft and kept on rolling until I stopped with a jolt against a tree five yards down the slope. Then I sat up and looked round.

"A few yards below me I saw my partner standing with the rope still in his hands. 'Hello, Jim,' he said cheerfully. 'That was a pretty close shave, wasn't it?'

"Yes," I replied, "it was about as close a shave as I'll ever want to have. Why didn't you come and haul me up sooner, I nearly yelled my head off calling for you."

"Then Tom told me that after working with the axe he had stopped to rest for a short time and sitting down in the shade of a tree on the hillside, had fallen asleep. It was only by a lucky chance that he had happened to wake up in time to save me."

IN INDIA AND CHINA

(Lord Willington at Vancouver)
"I might talk to you about India, where critical conditions are causing some anxiety," Lord Willington said. "I was there eleven years and I have a personal acquaintance with Mr. Gandhi. I am longing to pour forth my opinions, but I must refrain. But I might tell you that Mr. Gandhi is doing what he has done before. He tried to do the same thing about six years ago, but he did not succeed. One hears and reads a lot of the saintly attitude of Mr. Gandhi, but there is nothing particularly saintly in trying to make one's fellow citizens break the law."

"Then I might talk about China, where I spent seven or eight months for the British government. China at present is going through the birth pangs of creating a republic. Eighty per cent of the population of that country are plain tillers of the soil who have nothing to do with the trouble but suffer terribly. They are attacked by bandits and by war lords and they are starved by famine. One hopes and prays that conditions in China may improve, for, when a standstill comes to that country this dominion will derive a great trade benefit.

When your Children Cry
for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fussy, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every drugstore has it.

One hundred million dollars reward

If all farmers cooperate to fight weeds, they will gain a collective profit of more than one hundred million dollars annually. This immense sum represents the yearly loss caused by weeds throughout Canada. It is based on the conservative estimate of George H. Clark, Commissioner of the Seed Branch, Federal Department of Agriculture.

LAST YEAR, Canadian farmers suffered losses of from $250 to $2,000 dollars each because of weed conditions. Some were obliged to abandon farming altogether—so choked had the land become with couch grass and sow-thistle.

This misfortune has brought home an alarming truth—that weeds left to grow unchecked will take full possession of any farm and ultimately spell ruin for the owner.

Agricultural authorities agree that only by immediate, concerted action can farmers rid their lands of this wide-spread blight. They believe the most important thing any farmer can do is to clean up at least one field in 1930.

Weeds have already cost many millions of dollars... delay in dealing with them will cost millions more. To help Canadian Agriculture in its campaign to eradicate weeds, Imperial Oil Limited is now preparing a book which gives practical information that will simplify the job and make it successful. This book, "Weed Control"—is a companion volume to "Field and Farm Yard" which was published in 1929 and is now in the hands of 65,000 farmers.

"Weed Control" contains facts and figures collected from the experiences of weed authorities in all parts of Canada. It is not technical—but a simple, practical book dealing with the best and most successful methods of weed extermination. The Honorable Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, is its editor, and many other prominent weed authorities have contributed to its pages.

Weeds can be defeated if the job is tackled with system and patience. The reward will be bigger profits, more productive land, reduced labor costs and greater prosperity.

The successful plans and experiences offered in "Weed Control" will be extremely useful. By mailing attached coupon you can arrange for your free copy.

Our High School students, Elvera Liljedahl, Leonard Pearson and Mabel Anderson, are spending the Easter holidays with their parents.

Gospel services, conducted by Rev. Wickstrom, were held in the New Sweden Church on Good Friday.

Bath Johnson returned home on Monday.

Several from here took in the play "The Cat and the Canary," played by Wetaskiwin talent in the Audien Theatre on Wednesday evening. They report the acting as very good. It was a mystery play, and some of them had a spooky trip home in the mud.

Rev. Wickstrom held an Easter meeting in the Christian Alliance Assembly hall in Gwynne on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson spent the week-end in Strome visiting relatives.

Leonard Pearson has as his guest this week, Robert Edwards of Wetaskiwin.

An Easter service with special music and program pertaining to the theme, was heard by an appreciative audience in New Sweden church on Sunday morning.

Friends of Albin Swanson will be glad to know that he is so much improved that he was home over the Easter holidays. However, he returned to Edmonton, and expects to be under the doctor's care up there until coming morning.

Leona Johnson, had the stitches removed from her face on Thursday.

We are glad to know that Mr. Lindstrom is progressing very favorably after his operation, and was able to return home last week.

Mr. Dowler of Pigeon Lake was a New Sweden visitor on Saturday.

S. A. Anderson is on the farm for a little while during the busy season.

Wetaskiwin Honored

On the occasion being, Mr. J. G. Fox, Supt. of Edmonton, who accompanied the special train from Edmonton to Hardisty; Mr. Halbert, General Supt. Calgary, who accompanied the special train from Edmonton to Wetaskiwin; Mr. J. Nell, Assistant Supt., and Mr. Jack Stuart, C. P. R. Constable of Calgary.

It was very fitting on the occasion of the Wetaskiwin reception that the C.P.R. should select a Wetaskiwin crew to handle the Vice-Regal train, which was in charge of Conductor J. E. Burkholder, with P. A. Westwood and O. Hope as trainmen.

The citizens greatly appreciate the capable manner in which Mayor Howatt, the Aldermen and all those having charge of the arrangements carried out their work and they are receiving the sincerest congratulations upon the very successful reception and luncheon.

The responsibility of driving Their Excellencies, Lord and Lady Willingdon, and Mayor Howatt, throughout the reception, was entrusted to Capt. N. A. MacEachern, D.S.O. and bar, and needless to say no accidents occurred.

Mine host, Curt Smith, is deserving of great credit for the artistic manner in which the hotel and reception room were decorated and also for the prompt manner in which the excellent luncheon was served under great difficulty.

of other countries with them. In speaking of economic conditions, the Premier referred to the pendulum which had been swinging backward for some time, but there was no occasion for the people of Wetaskiwin district to talk pessimistically. There was no need of pessimism in this province, and Albertans should look upon the brighter side of things. The residents of the cities feel the depression to some extent, but the people living in the rural districts feel that they are the real sufferers and it is the duty of those living in the urban centres to be leaders in optimism and bring about a proper reaction until the economic conditions change.

We have wonderful resources which will eventually make us great, and we must go on to prosperity. Wheat causes an anxiety in some countries, and we hear what will happen when Russia comes on the market, but we forget the laws which regulate the situation. It is important that the people meet this problem with determination. In no other country will agriculture go as far north as in Alberta, as climatically we have as good a district as Wetaskiwin as far north as the northern boundary of the Province, and eventually we will have the best province in Canada. We have taken over the natural resources said the Premier, and we must go ahead. Another thing which arrested the attention of the Premier was the beautification of the city for the reception, and he urged the citizens to continue beautifying their surroundings, with the result that Wetaskiwin would in the future become one of the most beautiful cities in our fair province. It was a notable fact that in cities where beautification was stressed, crime had been considerably decreased. Wetaskiwin also had the advantage of being located on the through highway from the United States to the Peace-River country, which gave it a position as a commercial centre which should be taken advantage of.

The luncheon was presided over by Mayor Howatt, and was pronounced to be one of the most successful and enjoyable affairs ever held in Wetaskiwin. About one hundred and fifty prominent citizens of the city, and community attended and the addresses of the two distinguished guests as well as the songs by Stewart Campbell and Mrs. Asbridge were greatly enjoyed. The accompanists were Mrs. MacMurdo and Mrs. Lem Mellett.

ELEVATOR MANAGER IS FACING CHARGES IN BASHAW COURT

Three charges of theft by conversion are faced by John Cook, former manager of the Malden grain elevator which burned at Bashaw on March 9. The charges were laid as the result of investigations carried out by the fire commissioners' department of the provincial government.

Cook was given his preliminary hearing recently and was again up at Bashaw on Thursday. As the investigations have not yet been completed, it is possible there will be some further developments.

The elevator, of which Cook had been manager for over two years, was a complete loss, including a quantity of grain and nearby buildings.

GIRLS AND WOMEN
NOW TRAINING FOR
TRACK AND FIELD

There was a most gratifying turnout of young ladies and girls at the park on Monday evening for the first workout of the season, preparatory to activities of the summer in track and field sports. Mrs. J. A. Rodell, president of the Ladies' Amateur Athletic Association, was present, and Mr. B. W. Bellamy put the several aspirants through their paces. Some new blood was prominent in the assemblage and Bart avers that a few surprises may be sprung on the public in the near future. The next workout is scheduled for Saturday evening at 7:30 and newcomers will be especially welcome.

The Provincial women's track and field championships will be held at Lethbridge this summer, and it is hoped to develop sufficient talent to warrant strong representation from here at that meet. The women's championships for the first time will this year be in three sections, junior, under 16 years; intermediate, under 18 years; and senior, over 18 years.

Other out-of-town trips are contemplated, and the teams will be selected for the respective classes from those who are regularly punctual in attendance at work-outs, who diligently apply themselves to proper training methods, as outlined by the instructors in charge.

BASEBALL

Wetaskiwin Athletics vs. Ferintosh The first baseball game of the season was played on the Diamond Park Sunday, between the above mentioned teams, with the result of the Athletics winning out by a singleton in a heavy score, 13 to 14, in a seven inning contest. Considering the earliness of the season, both teams played reasonably good baseball, the feature play, of course, was "WeeWee" Weyher's double, unassisted.

The lineups were:
Wetaskiwin: W. Cole, J. Smith, Weyher, McLeod, X.H. Overn, Ivarsk, Roberts, Rackens, Fairwell, P. Mitchell, Mason, J. Smith, Pritchard, Holmes, Watson, Gould, Overn, Ross.

The Athletics are fortunate in having a trio of good pitchers. Dixon pitched the first two innings and showed splendid form. Fairwell took the mound in the third inning and had a little hard luck for a time, but soon became master of the elusive toss and had Ferintosh's best batters eating out of his hand. H. Overn was tried out in the last inning and although he ran into a few hard luck breaks in the umpire's close decisions and a bad error or two on the part of the infielders, he retained his head and pitched with the confidence of a big leaguer.

A baseball game between the Wetaskiwin Athletics and the Hoboken Indians will be played on the local diamond on Thursday evening, at 6:30. Fairwell will be on the mound for the Wetaskiwin players.

The electric fire alarm ordered some time ago by the town of Camrose has been erected at the town hall and installation is going forward this week. It is expected the alarm will be in readiness in the course of a day or two.

Impounded in the pound kept by L. W. Marr, located on the S.W. 15-47-25-4, on the 1st day of March and sold on the 17th day of March, 1930: Jack, Golden, dark brown, no brand; to George Bulman of Millet. For information apply to T. S. EDMONTON GRADS
GIVE UP HONORS

Vancouver, B.C., April 24. — The University of British Columbia girls basketball team has been officially approved as Canada's representatives for the world tournament at Prague, Czechoslovakia. Secretary George Winter of the B.C. basketball association announces.

Winter says President W. A. Arditt of the dominion association wired him from Winnipeg that the officials of the world meet would accept the varsity team as the best available in Canada, the champion Edmonton Grads being unable to go.

GOLF NOTES

The membership for the year is being largely signed and the prospects are that within a week there will be a larger number of members on the list than in any previous year, and that the list will be added to by a number who are presently considering membership. It is expected that those who have not yet signed the list and who have been playing golf this season will sign without delay.

The ladies held a meeting last week and appointed the following committees: Match Committee—Mrs. Wiseman, Convener.

House Committee—Mrs. Burkholder, Convener. Entertainment Committee—Mrs. Knox, Convener.

The personnel of each of the Committees was also selected and the names of the committees will be posted in the Clubhouse.

Some annoyance has been caused to players by trespassers on the course carrying firearms and causing damage to the equipment and the course, and the Governors have advised the police of this and steps will be taken to prosecute such trespassers.

It is expected that the opening Club match of the season will be held during the week-end of Saturday, May 24th, Victoria Day. Teams will be selected by the President and Vice-president and competitions among the Juniors are also to be arranged. Prizes will be given in the latter competition and the details will be announced later.

The Greens Committee expect to have fresh sand on the greens within the next few days and the flagpoles and flags replaced where necessary. The ladies have provided a new flag for the Clubhouse and a suitable flagpole will be installed shortly. The House Committee intend making some improvements upon the internal arrangements of the house in the near future.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Wiseman (Phone 3238) and Mrs. Murdoch (Phone 146) has been appointed to receive requests from members who wish transportation to the course any afternoon. These ladies have a list of members who are willing to give the use of their cars to carry gratuitously players who themselves have no means of transportation to and from the Golf Course. It is requested that players wishing to avail themselves of this arrangement should telephone either of the ladies referred to before noon in order to allow the arrangements to be completed with the car owners in good time.

REFUTATION

Mayor Howatt has drawn the attention of the Editor of the communication appearing in last week's issue referring to the parking space for horses. His Worship states that he made no such statement at any time to any person in the connection as set out in the letter.

Taking into consideration that for the first time in the history of the city a tying place has been set aside and fixed up, it would appear that the letter was ill-timed, unnecessary and unjust.

Mayor Howatt also wishes to point out that this move of the Council is an advanced step, and he holds no animosity whatever towards the writer of the letter, and requests that the farmers of the community heartily co-operate with the Citizens in using the property set aside for their benefit and convenience.

Income Tax Returns must be made before midnight on Wednesday, April 30th.

HORSE BREEDERS ATTENTION! TAKE NOTICE

To all persons who have bred mares to my Percheron Stallions McKinley No. 9968, Brilliant No. 9969, Dewey No. 11874, Elaine No. 12125, for the past year, who are owing me for service fees either for colts or mares in foal bred to said stallions, are requested to see me personally and settle up without further delay. The notes for service fees are due March 1st of each year, with interest at 8% per annum. This is a fair warning, so be fair and please pay up. If this warning is not heeded, I will have to proceed in a different way to collect.

Note:—The said Stallions will not be travelling this season, as I cannot hire men and pay out money and not be paid for service fees. Any persons desiring to breed their mares can bring them to my farm.

FIRST FORTNIGHTLY
CROP REPORT

(Issued by the Dept. of Agriculture, Province of Alberta, April 26, 1930.)

Telegraphic reports received by the Department of Agriculture indicate that in the southern part of the province from 40 to 75 per cent of wheat is sown. Over all of the southern area moisture is sufficient for germination and over a large part is abundant. In the central sections of the province, reports indicate seeding of wheat to be from 35 to 75 per cent completed with sufficient moisture for germination but no reserve. Most of this area has received some moisture during the month of April and on April 24 and 25, snow and rain fell over a large area of the eastern part of the province.

In the Peace River district, heavy rain north and south of the Peace on April 24, have delayed seeding for several days. Very little grain has been sown north of the Peace, while to the south more than half of the area in this district of 25 per cent and that moisture conditions are the best in twenty years.

There is not likely to be much decrease in the acreage sown to wheat throughout the province. There will be, however, an increase in the acreage of coarse grains making a considerable increase in the total acreage sown. The small acreage of winter wheat sown has suffered severely from winter killing.

Live stock is reported to have come through the winter in fair condition.

The Imperial Parliament will be asked to amend certain Imperial statutes to validate the return of the resources. The Commons opens today and the attitude of the Conservative and In-

APPALLING WAR WEAPON BEING MADE SECRETLY

London, April 12.—What is described as the most appalling war weapon ever devised by man is being forged secretly in Britain, according to the Daily Mail.

This new horror is a combined flying torpedo and giant armoured aeroplane. It functions without a crew, its engines and course being controlled by a clockwork "brain." Its hull is merely a receptacle for bombs and will contain no spaces for a human occupant.

On either side of the tapering stream-lined body will be metal wings; in the bow will be the engine and propeller which will operate automatically and at the rear will be the control surfaces which will likewise be automatic in their action.

Inside the hull is an armoured "brain" consisting of a clockwork device set beforehand to operate at any time. After a predetermined distance has been flown this contrivance causes the engine to stop and the machineless death-dealer will immediately tilt and fall with a crash.

It is now becoming possible to combine with a gyroscopic form of control another device which operates the same way as the paper music rolls in an automatic player piano. A perforated strip of paper will be inserted in the mechanical "brain" to control the flight, thus making it possible for the machine to climb to a higher altitude or change its course. The new invention has an advantage over wireless controlled airplanes in that it cannot get jammed.

The Daily Mail says that should the world become involved in another war, the new death plane could bring death and terror to great populated areas with a mechanical precision which will be pitiless and almost impossible to intercept.

OTTAWA MAY ACT TO STOP DUMPING OF N.Z. BUTTER

Steps to secure a revision of the New Zealand treaty regarding butter shipments to Canada are being taken, according to a telegram Acting Premier George Hoadley has received from Hon. Charles Stewart, acting minister of agriculture. The wire reads:

"Your wire April 17 re New Zealand butter. Giving six months' notice required under treaty advising we are desirous of revising treaty when we hope provisions causing difficulty can be adjusted."

Hon. Mr. Hoadley declined to comment upon the telegram from Ottawa, merely referring to the representations already made to the federal authorities.

As reported some days ago, there is a fear that the heavy surplus shipments of New Zealand butter from the old country and elsewhere will have the effect of crashing prices for western dairymen and seriously affect those in Alberta and Saskatchewan particularly. One suggestion is that an embargo might be placed on the importing of this butter while the anti-dumping act might also be invoked. The serious factor in the situation is that untold damage can be done within the next six months, before the treaty revisions can be taken up by either government.

THE LADIES' AID

The old church bell had long been cracked,

Its call was but a groan,
It seemed to sound a funeral knell
With every broken tone.
"We need a bell," the brethren said,
But taxes must be paid;
We have no money we can spare—
Just ask the Ladies' Aid.

The shingles on the roof were old;
The rain came down in floods,
The brethren slowly shook their heads
And spoke of monthly bills.

The chairman of the board arose,
And said, "I am afraid
That we will have to lay the case
Before the Ladies' Aid."

The carpet had been patched and patched,
Till quite beyond repair,
And through the aisles and on the steps

The boards showed hard and bare.
"It is too bad," the brethren said,
"An effort must be made
To raise an interest on the part
Of members of the Aid."

The poor man blushed to meet
The grocer and the butcher as
They passed him on the street;
But nobly spoke the brethren then,
"Pastor, you shall be paid,
We'll call upon the treasurer
Of our good Ladies' Aid."

"Ah!" said the men, "the way to heaven
Is long and hard and steep;
With slopes of ease on either side,
The path 'tis hard to keep.
We cannot climb the heights alone,
Our hearts are sore dismayed;
We ne'er shall get to heaven at all
Without the Ladies' Aid."

PEACHIE PUDDINGS

By Barbara B. Brooks
Nearly everyone likes peaches either canned or fresh and their flavor blends well with other foods. There are a number of puddings in which canned peaches are used to advantage because they bring color to otherwise uninteresting looking dishes:

Peach Batter Pudding
Drain halves of canned peaches. Place a layer of fruit in the bottom of a greased baking dish and pour cottage pudding batter over it. Bake in a moderate oven (375-400 deg. F.) about thirty minutes.

Cottage Pudding Batter
1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1 egg, 1/4 cup shortening.

Sift the flour with the baking powder. Cream the shortening and add the sugar and salt and the egg, well beaten. Then add the milk and flour alternately.

English Peach Pudding
1 can peach halves, cinnamon toast, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup boiled frosting,

Mrs. Chas. Eldershaw, Morrell, P.E.I., writes:—"Some time ago I was seized with a severe cold that left me with a bad, tiresome cough."

"After trying different cough medicines, to no avail, my husband brought me home a bottle of which I started to take at once, and before I had taken several doses I noticed a change, and when I had finished the bottle my cough was completely gone. I cannot recommend Dr. Wood's N. P. Syrup too highly."

Price, 35¢ per bottle; large family size 60¢ only, at all drug stores or dealers. Put up only by The T. M. Williams Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

using three egg whites or 1 cup meringue.

Heat the peaches and add the sugar. Arrange squares of cinnamon toast in the bottom and around the sides of a pudding dish. Pour in the boiling hot peaches, cover the dish so that no steam can escape and cool gradually. Chill and cover the top with boiled frosting garnished with bits of jelly or with meringue.

Peach Tapioca
1 can peaches, 1/4 cup powdered sugar, 1 cup tapioca, boiling water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Drain peaches, sprinkle with powdered sugar, and let stand one hour; soak tapioca one hour in cold water to cover; to peach syrup add enough boiling water to make three cups; heat to boiling point, add tapioca drained from cold water, sugar and salt; then cook in a double boiler until transparent. Line a mould or pudding dish with peaches cut in quarters, fill with tapioca, and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes; cool slightly, turn on a dish, and serve with whipped cream.

HEADACHES

Pain is not a disease. It is generally a signal that something is wrong; that some condition requires attention. Headache is a common symptom and occurs in almost every illness. It is a warning, in many cases, that there is some poisoning going on somewhere in the body, poisoning, such as comes from the activity of the germs of disease or as a result of the failure of the body to rid itself of the wastes of body activity.

Eyestrain is a common cause of headache. It is not that the individual is unable to see, but rather that on account of some abnormal condition of the eye, or overuse of the eyes, a strain is thrown upon them, and headache frequently results.

Over-indulgences in food, beverages, or tobacco, living in unventilated rooms, emotional upsets, uterine diseases, and many other conditions can be placed on the list of causes of headaches.

It is not suggested that it is necessary or advisable to call the doctor for every headache. The cause of the headache may be very plain to the sufferer, and he knows that the cure, and prevention of other headaches, depends upon his avoiding the excess of indiscretion which is the cause.

Frequent headaches, unusually severe headaches, are not to be disregarded. It is a mistake to relieve the headache by drugs and to go on feeling that all is well. Of course, relief from pain is desired, but to secure release from headaches and then disregard them is about as sensible a procedure as to blow out a red lamp which acts as a danger signal, and go ahead as if the danger itself had been removed.

Headaches are a signal. Their cause should be sought for and, when found, treatment directed towards the cause, not the symptom. Nature

ONLY A DOCTOR KNOWS WHAT A LAXATIVE SHOULD BE

Danger lies in careless selection of laxatives! By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, lack of appetite or energy warns of constipation, you risk forming the laxative habit.

Depend on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach disorders. Its originator tried it in thousands of cases; found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It is composed of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients. You can get it, in generous bottles and ready for use, at any drugstore.

Bathe the affected parts with Minard's in warm water. Quick relief assured. Always keep Minard's handy for colds, sprains, cuts and bruises.

ERIGIDAIRE PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Within the memory of living inhabitants of the tiny village even grown-ups would not venture down the lane at night for fear of meeting a pair of ghostly jack boots walking on their own.

The skeleton just discovered is obviously that of a young man, and is complete with the exception of the bones below the knees on each leg. The theory is now advanced that the huntsman was not killed by his hounds, but that he disturbed some intruders there, and that in trying to frustrate them he was killed.

To cover their deed it is suggested the murderers severed their victim's legs and left them with the hounds.

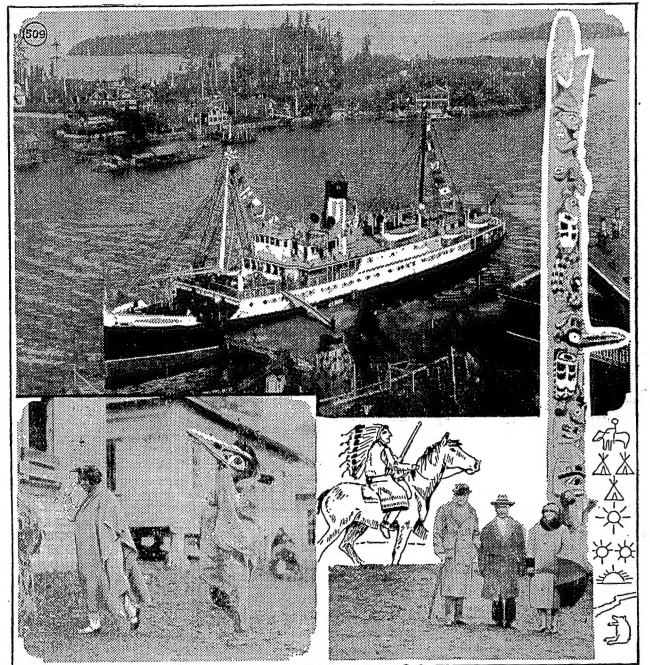

The remainder of the body they removed to a nearby rabbit warren, now a sandpit, and there had buried it.

Arbor day in Alberta this year will be the first Monday in May, which falls on the fifth day of the month.

As usual it will be a holiday in the government offices but will not be so observed in business establishments.

CONQUERED BY A SONG

Lands have been annexed by fire and sword, but the west coast of Vancouver Island has the unique distinction of being won by a song. The Spanish admiral who led an expedition against it in 1790, so charmed the heart of the warlike Maquinna, Lord of the Nootka, with a theme song which he caused his merry men to sing over and over until the chief was placated, that the Indian made him welcome and gave him jurisdiction over the Sound and the Islands. Since that date the coast of Vancouver Island has become the rendezvous of tourists from all over the world. Within easy reach of Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, it yet offers the attraction of territory quite unspoiled by industrialism and a paradise of beautiful scenery and fruitful sport. As it was when the Spaniards first sighted it, so it virtually is today. Canadian Pacific steamships of the British Columbia Coast Service travel up and down this coast, and make it easily and comfortably accessible to visitors. Lay-out shows Canadian Pacific coastal vessel "Princess Norah" sailing among the islands off the Vancouver Island coast; lower left, Indian parade in village and totem pole with Lord and Lady Willingdon and Captain Jack, Indian Nootka Chief.

HUMAN NATURE

(By Walt Mason)

The snow was drifting high and deep upon the mountain roads, and citizens were urged to keep quite close to their abodes. "It isn't safe," the warden said, "to use the highways now; let every voter use his head and stay home with his frau." They sent their warnings on the air, and put them in the press, exhorting people everywhere to side-step much distress. A lot of people never planned on driving in the snow, until these warnings came to hand, then they were bound to go. The voter sees a danger sign, and cries aloud, "Oh, chee! For other people that is fine—it isn't meant for me." So when the warden of the roads sent out their warnings dire, the people left their snug abodes, their seats beside the fire. "We'll have to see how bad it is," they said, and did not quail, and each one cranked his trusty Lix and started up the trail. It had been snowing days and nights, the storm took all the buns; and slithering, thickening on the heights, the snow still lay in tons. And countless travelers were there, amid the drifting snow; they clawed the sleet out from their hair, and wept in bitter woe. They hadn't anything to eat save frozen ears and feet and like Sam Hill they locked. They hadn't anything to drink, these sad, forsaken men, save where some pilgrim slipped the ink from out his fountain pen. They had no business to be there, they had been warned away, and little good it did to swear through-out the gloomy day. Contraband in the spine of every mortal jay; let him behold a danger sign, and he will go that way.

USED CAR SALES OVER-TOP NEW CARS

The remarkable number of used automobiles sold by dealers, in proportion to the new cars sold is revealed by figures recently compiled by the National Association of Finance Companies. Although the total number of retail sales recorded by manufacturers in 1929 was only 4,612,864, there were actually 10,214,044 cars and trucks sold during the year.

Used cars in 1929 thus amounted to approximately 120 per cent of new car sales. The proportion of used car sales to new car sales has been climbing steadily every year. In 1919 used cars handled by dealers numbered less than 60 per cent of new car sales. In other words in ten years the number of new cars sold has been multiplied by 2½ per cent, while used cars have increased more than five-fold. While sales of new cars last year were 22 per cent greater than the year before, sales of used cars increased 26 per cent.

The cornerstone of the new $31,000 Vegreville post office building was laid on Wednesday noon by A. L. Horton, editor of the Vegreville Observer, before a large gathering of townsmen. He outlined the story of this post office since its inception in 1910, when its cost was first placed in the government estimates. The plan was later dropped and only taken up again in 1929.

SIR HENRY THORNTON SPEAKS FROM MOVING TRAIN OVER ATLANTIC

Montreal, April 28.—London last night was on one end of yet another new development in communication methods, which during this century has piled marvel upon marvel, when Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., speaking from a rapidly moving train on the Canadian National Railway lines between Toronto and Montreal. Shortly after 8:30 p.m., C. J. Smith, European vice-president of the Canadian National, picked up the telephone in his office to answer a call, and in the twinkling of an eye was in communication with Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., speeding from Toronto to Montreal aboard the International Limited.

A few minutes after the President and the Vice-president had exchanged greetings and chatted about the weather, two correspondents of the Associated Press on different sides of the ocean talked together.

Here and There

"England is intensely interested in reciprocal trade possibilities with the Dominion. Although a satisfactory trade between England and Canada has been carried on in the past, an even greater interest is being shown by well-established firms in Great Britain in Empire trade," said R. R. Galbraith, British exporter, at Saint John's, Newfoundland, on his recent tour of Canada. Mr. Galbraith is touring Canada in the interests of his firm.

"There is no feeling of resentment against the Canadian Wheat Pool in Great Britain," stated Rt. Hon. Lord Eustace Percy, seventh son of the seventh Duke of Northumberland, on landing from S.S. Duchess of Athol at Saint John recently. "The consensus of opinion in the British Isles is becoming increasingly conscious of a serious economic problem which both British and Canadian farmers are called upon to face," he added.

Covering nearly 90 miles, leading into rich agricultural territory in Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway has just let contracts for grade construction of four branch lines, it is announced by D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of western lines. These contracts cover less than half the railway's present grading programme.

Receipt of the first entry in the world's grain exhibition and conference to be held in Regina in 1932 has been credited to William Hudson of Kathryn, Alberta, with an exhibit in the "Herald wheat" class. Mr. Hudson, who was exhibiting successfully in provincial fairs in the past three years, came to Canada from the Old Country in 1912.

Announcement is made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company that on and after Wednesday, April 3, they will accept shipments of freight at eastern points destined to points in the north-west, via Port McNicoll, Ont., and their lake and rail route, subject to delay at Port McNicoll pending the first sailing. There will be five steamers in the company's lake service between Port McNicoll and the head of the Lakes during the coming season.

While the Five Power Conference is in session in London considering ways and means of promoting world peace, active preparations are under way in Canada for launching another war with relentless fury. Millions of casualties will result from this war which is timed to start in May. It is the war on insect pests in the Dominion which work incalculable damage to trees and crops unless checked by Government entomologists.

Homestead entries in the four western provinces during January and February this year numbered 1378 compared with 1416 for the corresponding period of 1929. Alberta and British Columbia scored advances while Manitoba and Saskatchewan showed recessions.

Over $22,000,000 has been invested in manufacturing enterprises in the Province of Alberta and these concerns are paying about $14,000,000 a year in salaries and wages to over 11,000 employees. Similar rapid development in industry is to be noted in the sister provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.
